Clothing, 315 7th St.

Mr. W. E. Shekells, late of Godfrey, Moore & Co., is now with us.

Come buy a Bicycle Suit while it can be had for a song.

If you have one buy another, as it will be good this fall. If you haven't one buy one. If you don't ride buy one anyhow for mountain or seashore. Awfully comfortable for lounging and long walks.

A big table is piled with Bicycle and Golf Suits, with and without cuffs, which were $10, $12 and $15—mostly large sizes—all to go at $3.75 and $5.

Bicycle Pants, in all-wool mixtures, which were $1.50 to $4, are now $1 to $2.

Lieut. J. W. Gessford, of the Eighth regiment, is on leave, and Sergt. Daniel Statter is acting lieutenant.

Richard Young, colored, who is driver of a beer wagon, fell from the vehicle at Ninth and K streets yesterday and broke his right leg.

William Harris, a small boy, residing at No. 513 Third street, was struck in the face with a base ball and had his nose broken last evening.

Suit was entered today by Stephen S. Ford against George W. Kinley to dissolve the partnership existing between them in the conduct of a saloon at No. 433 Third street southwest.

Charles F. Herriman was riding a bicycle on Pennsylvania avenue southwest yesterday at a speed greater than allowed by police regulations, and was fined $5 in the police court today.

There is a bad washout on the north side of Fort street between Eleventh and Twelfth streets northwest, Brookland, D. C., and Acting Lieut. Daniel Statter reported the matter to headquarters today.

Martha Brooks, of No. 1123 Third street northwest, asks the Times to deny that she was elected corresponding secretary of the new chapter of the National Negro Protective Association, recently organized at Second Baptist Church.

The First Washington Baptist Association will hold its twenty-sixth annual session with the Liberty Baptist church, at the corner of Eleventh and E streets northwest, this city, beginning next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. Hannah Egan, sixty-six years of age, who resides at No. 1011 Fourteenth street southeast, fell from a Capital Traction cable train this morning, and was severely injured about the back and shoulders. A police ambulance conveyed her to Providence Hospital.

John Butler, colored, is a sport and delights in dog fights. He was arrested on the common yesterday while engaged in his favorite pastime, and in the police court today Judge Kimball gave him the privilege of paying $5 for his sport of going down for fifteen days.

The trial of Stationkeeper Allen, of No. 1, was continued before the trial yesterday afternoon, but the typewritten evidence will not reach the commissioners for several days. It is the general opinion that Mr. Allen will be honorably acquitted of the charge brought against him.

William Clifford and Oliver Morgan found a silk umbrella before the trial yesterday, and were found trying to sell the same for $1 in the Division. In the police court today they were charged with being suspicious characters, and were sentenced to thirty days each or to give $50 bonds.

A colored driver, while asleep on one of the Washington Truck Machine Company's wagons about 8 o'clock this morning, ran into a Great Falls car wagon, at Seventh street and Florida avenue, severely cutting the fore and hind leg of one of the horses. The driver, on the ground that it was a case for civil suit.

Mr. John Wansell, the former diverman, who was reported missing by his wife yesterday, has turned up safe and sound. Policeman Austin found him on Pennsylvania avenue last night, and he returned to his wife. Mr. Wansell denies that he was missing, and attributes his absence from home Wednesday night to the fact that he was employed and could not go home.

SENATORS NEXT TO LAST

Lost Again Yesterday and Fell to Eleventh Place.

KING EASY FOR THE INDIANS

"Silver" Was Rather Wild at the Start and the Forest City Team Won the Contest in the First Three Innings—Statesmen Could Not Hit at the Right Time.

The Senators found the Cleveland Indians somewhat different from the Michigan minor leaguers, and after the engagement yesterday with Toledo's team in the Forest City Statesmen find themselves where The Times predicted they would be unless a decided improvement marked their playing—no notch above last place. It is hardly probable that any club will succeed in restoring the fallen position from the "Pine Browns," as they are so deep in has lost nothing but their dropping out entirely would make a vacancy in the unenvied last position.

The truth of the matter is the Washington team is not playing first division ball, or even a good second division game. Taking 300 as a standard in putting it is shown, according to recent averages, that five Senators are above that mark—Mercer, DeMontreville, Tucker, McGuire, and Selbach—but as these five cannot be expected to do all the batting, it must be set down that the team as a whole are weak hitters, which would account in a measure for their failure to win games. The pitchers are only fair, McJannet being the only one who can be depended upon to do consistent effective work in the box. Mercer seems to be unable to round into winning form. King is pitching a good game one day and a bad game the next turn on the rubber. German is only good for five or six innings, while Swain has hardly had sufficient trying out to judge him fairly.

As fielders the club seems to be all right when the men are all playing their proper positions. Yesterday they out-fielded the Indians, but when it is noticed that the four players in the batting lot made ten out of the twelve hits attributed to the Washington team, it is very apparent that most of them were thrown away, as the weak hitters at the bottom of the list were unable to connect with ball and some men when they did connect, the ball was hit into the outfield. It might not be a bad idea to change the batting order around a little.

In yesterday's game King was easy for the first three innings, and when he did get down to good work the Indians had the game safely showed a way in their own column. The Senators' pitcher materially aided Cleveland in winning by his half dozen gifts of first base.

DIAMOND DUST.

And now New Yorkers call Scrappy Bill Joyce "His Highness."

John L. Sullivan will umpire a game at Waterbury, Conn., today.

New York and Brooklyn were the only Eastern clubs that won yesterday.

Cumiskey's star pitcher, Isbel, recently held Minneapolis down to three hits.

George Cuddy has been nursing a lame wing. He has not pitched for six weeks.

Billy Hamilton leads the League in stolen bases, with thirty-three, one ahead of Lange.

The Philadelphia Record's Cincinnati correspondent has started the cry of umpire against Hurst.

Jim Corbett has been secured to play first base for the Athletics against Richmond next Wednesday.

Pat Meaney, outfielder and pitcher, and Jim Daly, outfielder, have been released by Scranton to Wilkes-Barre.

Keeler heads the outfielders, with a fielding average of .961. "Fry" Anson is high roller among the first basemen, with .992.

George Becker, of the Chicago, is the one being hit on the head with a pitched ball by Frizer, of the Louisville.

The Toronto-Wilkes-Barre Eastern League games for next week have been transferred to Toronto, two games to be played Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and one on Tuesday.

Newcastle's long hair has a catch on the head in the Interstate League. Toledo is a good second, and the fight for third place between Dayton and Youngstown is a very pretty one.

Barry Wagner is very kind when he says the Reds will beat out Baltimore, but he also picks out New York and Boston to finish ahead of Cincinnati. Well, the Reds will make a fight for it, at any rate—Cincinnati Post.

Artie Latham is trying to cover second base for the Mansfield, and he is having a catch-a-catch-out time of it. In one game he missed three out of five chances, and then went in and accepted his chances without a slip.

The name of Al Manck has almost passed from baseball memory. Uncle's ex-wife, however, is still alive. At Des Moines he figured as the pitcher in a 1 to 0 victory over Quincy. Verily, there is some virtue left in old man.

McBee's testimonial fund is swelling daily, and by the time the game takes place the 28th it will run up into thousands instead of hundreds of dollars. A more deserving player never lived, and every lover of honest sport should add his or her mite to the good cause.

Pitcher Charles Pittenger, of Hagerstown, has been elected by the Pittsburgh National League Club, and will report for today duty. He has been playing ball for five years, and is a reasonably good pitcher. He has won sixteen out of the eighteen games he has twirled this season.

"There is only one case that I can recall where a player was struck and died from the effects of it," said Elmer Smith to Will Locke the other day. "That was Andy McKean, the Pirates' old first baseman, who was also a member of the St. Louis Maroons. He was knocked out by the sun in Pittsburgh one day and was seen on the diamond again. He died in less than a month."

The franks of fortune in baseball are attested in the case of Gene De Montreville and Joe Corbett. De Montreville was but a so-so batsman in the Eastern League, but he suddenly paralyzed the critics and set the form players awry by confoundingly hitting on the shoofs and twirlers in the big league till he is now acknowledged one of the best natural basemen in the business. Joe Corbett, the other case in point, was farmed out to Scranton by Ed Hanlon last summer, and the Eastern League biter, daffled so freely with Joe's career that he was set down as a failure by many of the players. Today he is the winning pitcher of the Orioles.

It keeps Col. Pringle, of Pittsburgh, very busy telling Uncle Nick Young what a bad lot of umpires he has on his staff. Poor Dan Campbell came in for a roast after his Buckeye debut. Listen: "Mr. Campbell, of Philadelphia, was a terrible failure. He made one bad decision that resulted in the Cleveland getting three runs. This was one case of defeat. Another case was the weak hitting of the Pirates at stages where a good pitcher have counted, and the third case was the very poor judgment used in the seventh inning by the local batters." Still there have been occasions when Col. Pringle has overlooked the faults of umpires. When Mr. Betts—called Betts in Cincinnati—used a sandbag on the Reds a couple of years ago, and called Ewing out after he scored the winning run, the Pittsburgh philosopher forgot to chide Uncle Nick for keeping Betts at work.

Joe Kelley and "Muggsy" McGraw were the targets for most of the wordy missiles from the crowd of kidders and joicers. Umpire Barnham once told a story in the Enquirer about Joe Kelley carrying a looking-glass in his baseball cap, so that he could arrange his hair and keep his bangs in position. Stab Brown, when he joined the Reds, brought stories along with him to the effect that Kelley not only carried a little mirror in his uniform, but a pocket comb as well. These stories were not taken seriously, but a little incident occurred in yesterday's game that seems to confirm the story that Joe thinks "pretty well of
